

Lifelong Education

1. General Overview

The Department of Lifelong Education was established in 1998, the first of its kind at a 4-year university in Korea. Since then, the Department has been playing a leading role in the field. Thanks to excellent performances of students on the one hand, and the rapid aging of the Korean population on the other, our graduates are 100% employed despite the tough job situations. The Department has recently received a prize for its achievement.

2. Educational Goals/Objectives

The Department teach theories and practices of lifelong education so that the graduates may effectively respond to the growing need of lifelong education in Korea. Our curricula are designed to produce both lifelong education practitioners and scholars. The practitioners will deal with such responsibilities as instructors, project directors, program analysts, program managers, and program evaluators in the field of lifelong education. The scholars, in the meanwhile, will be involved in research and development in lifelong education, exploring new theories and paradigms in the field.
